Happy Summer!

person, in various communities including assisted living, senior centers, senior apartments, and ad

Nonetheless, the stories of isolation persist; a life dies leaving a person feeling alone and invisible, a new community leaves a person at odds with his or her closer relationships. We are honored that so many volunteers intersecting with the aging space are doing something that can be done to bring a deeper level of meaning back into a person's life.

Leaders, please reach out and tell us what you are doing for you for walking with us on this path.

Here is something to wrap your head around on these summer days:

Prayer for the Reader Who Photographs and Shares It with Friends
